

OFFER

Not everyone will receive a job offer. If the interview is your end point in the process, you may consider refining your job search based on anything you've learned along the way.

If you do receive an offer, congratulations. Before the offer is finalized, you would be asked to complete a few pre-employment requirements.

This section outlines what's involved in a job offer from PNC.