

Indicative Price Disclosure

All pricing provided by PNC Bank is indicative only and subject to firm quotations. This email or document is intended for informational purposes only, and should not be construed as legal, accounting, tax, trading or other professional advice. You should consult with your own independent legal, accounting, tax and other professional advisors before taking any action based on this information. Under no circumstances should this email or document or any information contained herein be considered a recommendation or solicitation by PNC Bank to buy or sell any products or services or a commitment to enter into any transaction. Every transaction is subject to PNC Bank's subsequent formal agreement, which will be subject to internal approvals and execution of legal agreements. Markets do and will change. Any information, values, estimates, or opinions expressed or implied herein are subject to change without notice, including fluctuations due to adverse moves in exchange rates, interest rates, commodity prices and other factors. Under no circumstances is PNC Bank liable for any lost profits, lost opportunities, or any indirect, consequential, incidental, special, punitive, or exemplary damages arising out of any use, reliance, or any opinion, estimate or information contained herein or any omission therefrom. Early termination by you of any derivatives transaction would require payment of a termination value to or from PNC Bank depending on market rates or prices at the time of termination.

The information contained herein is confidential and may not be disclosed, duplicated, copied, disseminated or distributed by any means to any other person or entity without PNC Bank's prior written consent.
