A Note About the Attached Consumer Credit Card Agreement (# K-10556): The attached consumer credit card agreement was the standard agreement used for PNC Bank, National Association consumer credit card accounts as of the last business day of the preceding calendar quarter. This agreement may have changed or may no longer be in use after that date. The information in this Pricing Information Addendum is a summary of all pricing information that was available for new accounts subject to this agreement as of the last business day of the preceding calendar quarter. Certain provisions of the attached agreement vary from one consumer to the next to reflect the specific pricing information for a given consumer credit card account.

Summary of Interest Rate Information: Annual Percentage Rates ("APRs") below with a (V) vary (increase or decrease) with the market based on the prime rate (index). In some instances, the consumer’s credit card agreement provided for a non-variable APR for some of the features of the account. The Penalty APR may be applied to the consumer’s account if the consumer makes a late payment. If the APRs on an account are increased for this reason, the Penalty APR will apply until the consumer makes six consecutive minimum payments by the applicable due date.

Paying Interest (grace period): The due date on an account is at least 21 days after the close of each billing cycle. No interest is charged on new purchases appearing on the consumer’s current statement if the consumer paid in full the “New Balance” shown on the consumer’s previous statement and the payment was received by that due date. We begin charging interest on cash advances and balance transfers on the transaction date.

Balance Computation Method: The method used to calculate the balances subject to interest on a consumer’s account is called the “average daily balance (including new purchases).” Here are the details about this calculation method for purchases, balance transfers and cash advances:

- How we calculate the balance on purchases (including balance transfers): (1) We start with the unpaid amount of purchases for the current billing cycle, which may include unpaid interest and fees from previous billing cycles. (2) Each day we subtract any payments or credits that apply to purchases. We add any new purchases, any new fees that apply to purchases, and any interest on the previous day’s purchase balance if you have not paid in full the New Balance on your previous statement by the due date. This gives us the daily balance of purchases. (3) Then we add up all the daily balances of purchases for the billing cycle and divide by the total number of days in the billing cycle. This gives us the “average daily balance of purchases” for the current billing cycle. (Although balance transfers are calculated as part of the average daily balances (including new purchases), there is no grace period for balance transfers).

- How we calculate the balance on cash advances: (1) We start with the unpaid amount of cash advances, which may include unpaid interest and fees from previous billing cycles. (2) Each day we subtract any payments or credits that apply to cash advances. Then we add any new cash advances, any new fees that apply to cash advances, and any interest on the previous day’s cash advance balance. This gives us the daily balance of new cash advances. (3) Then we add up all the daily balances of cash advances for the billing cycle and divide by the number of days in the billing cycle. This gives us the “average daily balance of cash advances.”

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pay on time</td>
<td>If you think you won’t be able to make your minimum monthly payment, call 1-800-558-8472. Special payment options may be available to you. Be sure to contact us early, before fees and interest add up.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stay within your credit limit</td>
<td>Your initial credit limit is printed on your card carrier. You may check your credit limit, available credit and balance any time by signing on to your PNC Online Banking account at pnc.com. And if you’d like, we can even send you email or text message alerts that let you know when you are getting close to, or have reached, your credit limit.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Try to pay off your balance each month</td>
<td>Pay your entire new balance, including balances for any promotional rate balance transfers, showing on your current statement by your due date, and we’ll provide you with a “grace period” for new purchases that appear on your next statement, which means that we won’t charge you interest on those new purchases if you pay them by the due date shown on that statement. Remember though – there is no grace period for cash advances or balance transfers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Check your statement each month</td>
<td>PNC Bank takes steps to protect your account from fraud and errors, but you can help by promptly reviewing your statements and notifying us if you find anything suspicious. Detailed information about what to do if you find a mistake on your statement is provided in your credit card agreement and each month on your statement.</td>

Making payments
We offer several options that make it easy for you to make your payments on time and avoid late fees. If you make your payments using one of the options below and meet additional payment requirements (details on our requirements are on your statement each month and in your credit card agreement), we will credit your payment as follows:

<td>the day we receive it, if received by midnight ET, next day if received after midnight ET</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Keep in mind - Sometimes it may take us a few days to process your payment. If that happens, your payment will still be credited to your account as noted above - even though that payment may not immediately show in your PNC Online Banking account or on your statement. Also, it may take 7 or more days before your payment amount is available to re-borrow as part of your available credit.

About your minimum payment
Each month you must pay at least your minimum payment on time. The amount of your minimum payment can change from month to month. Not making at least your minimum payment each month could result in an increase to your APRs, reduction of your credit limit, closure of your account, and/or a decline in your credit score. Keep in mind, if you pay only the minimum payment, you’ll pay more in interest over time, and it will take you longer to pay off your balance. We’ll remind you of this every month on your statement with a minimum payment warning.

Dispute resolution through arbitration
If you have a claim and we are unable to resolve it informally, you or we may elect to resolve it by individual binding arbitration in accordance with the terms of the Arbitration Provision of your credit card agreement. If a claim is arbitrated, it will not be heard by a court or jury. Also, it will proceed as an individual action, and that means neither you nor we will have the right to participate in a class action in court. You have the right to opt out of the arbitration process by providing timely notice to us. Please refer to the Arbitration Provision located in section 9 of your credit card agreement for complete details.

NOTE: If you are active military or a dependent of active military, the Arbitration Provision may not apply to you. For details, please see section 9 of your credit card agreement.

Jury trial waiver notice
For any dispute that is not arbitrated: Your credit card agreement includes a section called “Jury Trial Waiver.” A jury trial waiver is an agreement to waive any right to a trial by a jury in the event of litigation between you and us. Please refer to section 8.6 of your credit card agreement for complete details.

NOTE: If you are active military or a dependent of active military, the Jury Trial Waiver provision may not apply to you. For details, please see section 8.6 of your credit card agreement.

Changes to your credit card account
We can change the terms of your credit card agreement, including your interest rates and fees, or close your account at any time and for any reason, unless prohibited by applicable law. Some common reasons for closing an account include not making your payments on time, a significant drop in your credit rating or not using your account for a long time. We may also increase or decrease your credit limit at any time.

Military Lending Act protections
If we determine that you are a “covered borrower,” as that term is defined under the Military Lending Act regulation ("MLA"), 32 CFR Part 232 (meaning, generally, if you are active military or a dependent of active military), and your credit card account is subject to the provisions of the MLA, the following notice applies to your account during the period you are a covered borrower.

Federal law provides important protections to members of the Armed Forces and their dependents relating to extensions of consumer credit. In general, the cost of consumer credit to a member of the Armed Forces and his or her dependent may not exceed an annual percentage rate of 36 percent. This rate must include, as applicable to the credit transaction or Account: The costs associated with credit insurance premiums; fees for ancillary products sold in connection with the credit transaction; any application fee charged (other than certain application fees for specified credit transactions or accounts); and any participation fee charged (other than certain participation fees for a credit card account).

1 INTRODUCTION

This Agreement governs your Account, which we have opened at your request. You are agreeing to all the terms and conditions of this Agreement when you:

- use the Account or allow anyone else (an authorized user) to use the Account, and/or
- don’t cancel the Account within 10 days after we send or otherwise deliver this Agreement to you.

Your legal representative, including any attorney-in-fact you may appoint, shall also be subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

1.1 Basic terms defined

We, us, PNC Bank and our: PNC Bank, National Association and its successors and assigns

You and your: Any person who, verbally or in writing (including electronically), applies or accepts our offer for, or who otherwise agrees to be financially responsible with respect to, the Account

Account: Your Visa® or Mastercard® credit card account with us

Agreement: This PNC Bank Consumer Credit Card Agreement and the accompanying Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures, as may be changed from time to time, and disclosures we provide with any Convenience Checks or special offers we make to you

Card or Cards: Any credit card(s) we issue to you or an authorized user for accessing your Account

Card Mailer: A document we provide to you to which your Card(s) is/are attached

Convenience Check(s): Any convenience check(s) we provide to you for accessing your Account

Due Date: The date a required payment is due as shown on your Statement. To be considered received by the due date, a payment must be made by that date in accordance with our payment requirements, including in time to be credited to your Account by that date. For information on our payment requirements and when we credit payments, see section 3.4. We also include this information on your Statement each month.

Example

Pat’s current statement shows that his minimum payment is due March 15. Pat makes his payment online using the “Transfer Funds” section of his PNC Online Banking account on March 15 at 9:00 p.m. eastern time.

Because Pat did not make his payment by 5:00 p.m. eastern time (the cut off time for this payment option), he did not make his payment by his due date. Assuming he met our other payment requirements, his payment will be credited to his account as of March 16 and his account will be assessed a late fee.

Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures: The tables of interest rates and fees provided with this Agreement

Posting/Crediting: The application of a transaction, such as a payment or purchase, to your Account

Statement: A document that you receive for a billing cycle that shows your Account activity and any amount due your total cash advance balance and any pending cash advance transactions.

2 USING YOUR ACCOUNT

You may use your Account for the following types of transactions:

- Purchases: You may use your Card to buy goods and services from a participating merchant. The goods and services you buy must be for personal, family and household purposes only.
- Cash advances: You may get cash advances from us or from another participating financial institution by using a Card at an automated teller machine (ATM), by issuing a Convenience Check against your Account or by any other means we offer. Cash advances also include the use of your Account to purchase cash equivalent items. Cash equivalent items are items that are similar to cash, including, but not limited to, traveler’s checks, wire transfers, money orders, gift cards, virtual currencies and stored value cards. Transactions made with or at a financial institution (such as the purchase of a CD or funding of a savings account), payments to government entities, payments using a third party service, and lottery, betting or gambling purchases are also cash equivalent items. All cash advances are subject to the cash advance APR and cash advance fee. Cash advances do not earn rewards under reward programs.
- Balance transfers: Information about balance transfers is provided in Section 6.1 of this Agreement.
- Credit lines: Your credit line is the amount you are allowed to charge on your Account. Your new credit limit is $300. As part of your total credit limit, you have a separate cash advance limit. Your available credit is the difference between your credit limit and your total balance and any pending transactions. The amount you have available for cash advances is the difference between your cash advance limit and your total cash advance balance and any pending cash advance transactions.

Example

Pat has a credit limit of $1,000 and a cash advance limit of $250. Pat currently has a balance of $400.

- Total credit limit: $1,000
- Account balance: $400
- Total available credit = $600

Pat’s balance of $400 includes a cash advance of $100 and the associated cash advance fee of $10 (the greater of $10 or 4% of the amount of the cash advance).

- Cash advance limit: $250
- Cash advance: $110
- Amount available for additional cash advances = $140

Right now, Pat has $400 of available credit that he could use for additional purchases, but only $140 could be used for cash advances.

Where to find the amount of your credit limit, cash advance limit and available credit.

Your initial credit limit and cash advance limit are printed on your Card Mailer. Your total credit limit, total available credit and total available credit for cash advances are shown on your Statement each month. We may also make more current information about your Account, including your Account balance, available at pnc.com/onlinebanking.

We may increase or decrease your credit limit or cash advance limit at any time and for any reason.

If your credit limit is ever increased, you must increase your security deposit by the amount of the increase in your credit limit, which must be in multiples of $50.00. We may, in our sole discretion, permit you to provide additional security in an amount less than the amount of the credit limit increase. Your credit limit may not be increased for up to 15 days after we receive your additional security deposit, and it will not be increased if your additional security deposit is made by a check, money order, electronic entry or other method that is not honored by the financial institution it is drawn on or is otherwise not paid. If you send us a check or electronic credit, it must be drawn on an account maintained at a financial institution located in the United States. All security deposits must be in U.S. dollars.

If you want to decrease your credit limit, you need to tell us in writing. You may not request a decrease more than twice over the life of your Account. The minimum decrease is $500, and larger decreases may be made in multiples of $50.00.

If you ask us to decrease your Credit Limit, within 60 days after we receive your request, we will withdraw the amount of the decrease from your security deposit, apply as much as necessary to your Account to bring your balance down to the new credit limit, and send you a check or credit your Account for the remainder of your Security Deposit that exceeds your new credit limit.

Additional information about your security deposit is provided in Section 6.4 of this Agreement.

9.4 Class Action Waiver ............................................................5
9.5 Contact; Severability; Survival ..............................................5
9.6 Right to Opt Out ...............................................................5

Your billing rights .................................................................5
If you exceed your limit
We have no obligation to authorize any transaction that would put you over your credit limit or cash advance limit, but may do so at our discretion.

If we do authorize a transaction that will put you over your credit limit, you must pay the overlimit amount by the Due Date shown on that Statement.

3 BILLING AND PAYMENTS

You agree to pay all amounts due on your Account. If you allow anyone to use your Account, you are responsible for all charges made by that person, even if the charges are more than you expected or for which you gave permission. If your Account is a joint account, each of you is jointly and individually responsible for all amounts due on your Account.

3.1 Your Statement
At the end of each billing cycle, we will provide a Statement that covers the billing cycle, to the extent required by applicable law. A “billing cycle” means the days covered by a Statement. Typically, a billing cycle will be 30 or 31 days, but can change from month to month. We tell you on your Statement the number of days in the billing cycle covered by the Statement as well as the Statement period end date (closing date) of that billing cycle.

We will send only one Statement per billing cycle for your Account even if your Account is a joint Account. We will send each Statement to the postal address we have on file that we have designated as the “primary” address for your Account. If you have opted for us to provide your Statements electronically, we will not have any obligation to send any Statements to your postal address. We may, at our discretion, round or truncate any amounts shown on your Statement, subject to any restrictions under applicable law.

3.2 Your minimum payment
You must pay at least the minimum payment each month by the Due Date shown on your Statement.

If you pay more than the minimum payment due for one billing cycle, you will still need to pay the full minimum payment due for the next billing cycle. There is no charge or penalty for paying more than the minimum payment.

How we calculate your minimum payment
Your minimum payment will be the largest of:

- Calculation 1
  - $25
- Any past due amounts OR
- Calculation 2
  - 2.5% of the new balance shown on your Statement
- Any past due amounts OR
- Calculation 3
  - 1.0% of the new balance shown on your Statement
- Any fees shown on your Statement (except any annual fee, foreign transaction fee or balance transfer fee)
- Any past due amounts

If your new balance is less than $25, you must pay the new balance in full.

Example
Pat’s statement shows a new balance of $500, including a past due amount of $38. He has been charged $10.60 in interest and a $25 late fee because he missed his last payment.

His minimum payment will be the largest of:

- Calculation 1
  - $25
- Any past due amounts OR
- Calculation 2
  - 2.5% of the new balance shown on his Statement
- Any past due amounts OR
- Calculation 3
  - 1.0% of the new balance shown on his Statement
- Any fees shown on his Statement (except any annual fee, foreign transaction fee or balance transfer fee)
- Any past due amounts

If Pat’s new balance is less than $25, he must pay the new balance in full.

Example
Pat’s statement shows a new balance of $500, including a past due amount of $38. He has been charged $10.60 in interest and a $25 late fee because he missed his last payment.

His minimum payment will be the largest of:

- Calculation 1
  - $25
- Any past due amounts OR
- Calculation 2
  - 2.5% of the new balance shown on his Statement
- Any past due amounts OR
- Calculation 3
  - 1.0% of the new balance shown on his Statement
- Any fees shown on his Statement (except any annual fee, foreign transaction fee or balance transfer fee)
- Any past due amounts

If Pat’s new balance is less than $25, he must pay the new balance in full.

If you owe any amount over your credit limit, as previously stated, that amount is also due on the Due Date. Your Statement will show both the minimum payment due and overlimit amount due, if applicable. The total of your minimum payment and your overlimit amount will be shown on your Statement as your total payment due.

Periodically, you may receive a credit to your Account, such as when you return a purchase to a merchant or when you redeem a reward for a monetary credit to your Account. Credits are not applied to your Account as payments.

3.3 How to make payments
We provide several ways for you to make a payment.

- Online: Sign on to your PNC Online Banking account at pnc.com and click on the "Transfer Funds" tab.
- Mail: Send your payment to the P.O. Box on your Statement coupon.
- Phone: Use our automated telephone payment service by calling:
  - 1-800-558-8472;
  - provide us with the dollar amount of the payment you wish to make; and
  - provide us with information about the checking or savings account (bank and account number) to be charged.

Your use of the telephone payment service, together with the entry of your PIN, is your authorization for us to initiate a charge (via an ACH debit or other electronic entry) to the designated checking or savings account in order to make the payment you requested. Once you have completed the authorization, it can only be revoked by contacting:

- PNC Bank
- Equity Monetary/BR-YB-58-D1-7
- P.O. Box 5570
- Cleveland, OH 44101
- Phone: 1-800-558-8472

If our attempt to charge your checking or savings account is unsuccessful because there are insufficient funds in the account you designate or for any other reason - we may charge you a related payment fee in accordance with the terms of this Agreement.

3.4 Crediting your payments to your Account
If you use one of the payment options listed in section 3.3 to make your payment and you comply with the additional payment requirements set out in this section, we will credit your payment as follows:

- Payments received by 5:00 p.m. eastern time for payments received by mail, 6:00 p.m. eastern time for payments made by using our automated telephone payment service or by midnight eastern time for payments made by signing on to your PNC Online Banking account at pnc.com and clicking on either "Pay Today" or "Pay Today" on the account activity screen for your Account will be credited the same day received.
- Payments received after the set time for the payment method will be credited the next day.
- If you don’t use one of the options listed in section 3.3 and/or don’t comply with the following additional payment requirements, crediting of your payment may be delayed up to 5 days or your payment may be rejected.

Additional payment requirements:
- All payments must be in U.S. dollars and drawn on an account at a U.S. financial institution. You may not use a Convenience Check to make a payment on your Account. When sending your payment by mail, you must use the envelope provided with your Statement, make sure our address is showing through the envelope window and include your payment coupon; do not send cash or include paper clips, staples, tape or other correspondence with your payment.

3.5 How we apply your payments
Application of your payments is at our discretion, and generally means that we will apply your payments to balances with lower APRs before balances with higher APRs. However, any amounts you pay in excess of your minimum payment due will be allocated to balances with higher APRs before balances with lower APRs.

When you make a payment, it may take 7 or more days before the payment amount is available to re-borrow as part of your total available credit.

4 INTEREST CHARGES

4.1 When interest charges apply
We begin to charge interest on your transactions as follows:

- Purchases and cash advances (other than Convenience Checks) and any related transaction fees: On the day you make the transaction.
- Balance transfers and any related transaction fees: On the day the transaction posts to your Account.
- Convenience Checks and any related transaction fees: On the day the convenience check posts to your Account.
- All other fees and charges: On the day we post such fee or charge to your Account.

We continue to charge interest on these transactions, fees and charges until you pay your balance in full and your payment is credited to your Account.

4.1.1 How to avoid paying interest on new purchases (grace period)
If you pay your entire new balance showing on your current Statement by your Due Date, you may avoid paying interest on new purchases appearing on your next Statement if you pay those new purchases by the Due Date shown on that next Statement. This is called a grace period. There is no grace period for cash advances and balance transfers.

4.2 Your APRs
Your Annual Percentage Rates (APRs) are the interest rates that determine how much interest you will pay on your Account for each billing cycle. Any variable APR that applies to your Account equals the value of an “index” plus a margin.

Please refer to the Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures for the margins (for any variable APR), daily periodic rates of interest and APRs that apply to your Account. As specified in Section 8.1, we may change your APRs from time to time.

The index
The index used to calculate any variable APRs applicable to your Account and in effect for each billing cycle is the “Prime Rate” of interest appearing in the “Money Rates” section of The Wall Street Journal published on the 20th day of the month preceding the first day of that billing cycle or, if The Wall Street Journal is not published on that date, the next day on which such Prime Rate is published. If The Wall Street Journal stops publishing the Prime Rate, we will choose a similar rate to use as the index.

Example
Mary has a billing cycle that starts on June 25, 2013. Her purchase APR is a variable rate determined by adding her margin of 12.99% to the value of the index. To determine the purchase APR that will apply to her billing cycle that starts on June 25, 2013, we first need to determine the value of the index. We do that by looking at the prime rate listed in the “Money Rates” section of The Wall Street Journal on June 20, 2013. On that date, the prime rate listed was 3.25%. Therefore, Mary’s APR for purchases for her billing cycle starting June 25, 2013 is 12.99% (her margin) + 3.25% (the prime rate) = 16.24%.

Any increase or decrease in the value of the index will result in a corresponding increase or decrease in the periodic rates of interest on any applicable APR that is based on such index. If the index is not published on that date, the next day on which such Index Rate is published will be effective as of the first day of the applicable billing cycle. Your APRs for a billing cycle are shown on your Statement for that billing cycle.

Introductory or promotional APR
If you are enrolled in any introductory APRs, information about those introductory APRs is provided in the Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures. In addition, we may occasionally make promotional (special rate) offers to you. If you offer us a special rate, we will tell you:

- Rate of the special APR that will apply
- Promotional Period: How long the special rate will apply
- Eligible transactions: The transactions or balances to which the special rate will apply
- Fees: Any fees that apply

We will calculate interest on eligible transactions separate from the rest of the transactions on your Account. Your Statement will show any balances to which a special rate applies. We may cancel a special rate if you trigger the Penalty APR.

Penalty APR
If we do not receive a minimum payment within 6 days after your Due Date, we may apply the higher Penalty APR to all your balances and future transactions. If we do this, we will notify you, as required by applicable law.

After the Penalty APR goes into effect, if you make at least your required minimum payment for six consecutive billing cycles by the applicable Due Dates, then, beginning the first day of the next billing cycle after you’ve met these payment requirements, we’ll stop using the Penalty APR and use the APRs that would otherwise apply to your Account.
4.3 How we calculate interest charges
We use the average daily balance (including new transactions) method to calculate the amount of interest on your Account. That means we use the formula below to calculate interest for each different transaction type on your Account. Then we add the interest for each transaction type together to get the total amount of interest that applies to your Account. Your Account may have one or more of the following transaction types: purchases, cash advances, protected balances and special rate transactions. For purposes of calculating interest, balance transfers are considered purchases unless a special rate offer applies, in which case they are treated as special rate transactions.

Formula used to calculate interest on each transaction type

\text{Daily periodic rate of interest} = \frac{\text{APR}}{365}
\]

\text{Fees} = \frac{\text{Number of days in billing cycle}}{\text{Average daily balance}} \times \text{Daily periodic rate of interest}
\]

\text{Interest charges} = \text{Fees}
\]

To use this formula, we first have to calculate components of the formula.

Daily periodic rate of interest

The daily periodic rate is the applicable APR divided by 365.

\text{APR} + \frac{365}{

\text{Daily periodic rate of interest} = \frac{\text{APR}}{365}
\]

Because you may have a different APR for each transaction type, you may have a different daily periodic rate of interest for each transaction type.

Average daily balance

We calculate the average daily balance for each transaction type (as previously stated, balance transfers are calculated as part of the average daily balance for purchases, unless they are subject to a special rate offer) as follows:

Each day, we calculate the daily balance for each transaction type as follows:

\text{Unpaid amount of transactions} = \text{Average daily balance} \times \text{Days in billing cycle}

\text{Daily balance} = \frac{\text{Unpaid amount of transactions}}{\text{Number of days in the billing cycle}}

\text{Average daily balance} = \frac{\sum \text{Daily balances}}{\text{Number of days in the billing cycle}}

Example

The example below shows how we would calculate interest for a customer with an average daily balance for purchases of $400 and a purchase APR of 15%.

\text{Daily periodic rate of interest} = \frac{15\% \times 365}{365} = 0.04109\%
\]

\text{Average daily balance} = \frac{\text{Average daily balance}}{30} = \frac{$400}{30} = $4.00

Calculation of interest charges

\text{Interest charges} = \frac{\text{Days in billing cycle} \times \text{Average daily balance}}{\text{Number of days in the billing cycle}} = $4.93

If this customer also made cash advance transactions, we would adjust the interest for purchases to the interest for cash advances to get a total amount of interest for the Account.

Rounding and truncation

We may, at our discretion, round or truncate these amounts subject to any restrictions under applicable law.

Minimum interest charge

You will always be charged at least a minimum amount of interest for a billing cycle, unless there is no interest charge at all for that billing cycle. The amount of your minimum interest charge is shown on your Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures. Any minimum interest charge assessed to your Account will be shown under the “Fees” section of your Statement.

5 FEES

There are certain fees associated with managing your Account. These fees are in addition to any interest charges associated with a transaction.

If you are charged a penalty fee for making a late payment or having a payment returned, you must still make any required payment due and owing on your Account.

Transaction fees are included in the average daily balance for the corresponding transaction type. For example, cash advance fees are included in the average daily balance for cash advances. Penalty fees, such as the late fee, and service fees, such as the stop payment fee, are included in the average daily balance for purchases.

We show the amount of each fee that applies to your Account in your Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures. The table below describes when those fees may be applied to your Account. If a particular fee does not apply to your Account, your Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures will show “none” or “$0” – or similar language - for that fee or will not show that fee at all. As specified in Section 8.1, fees on your Account are subject to change.

6 ACCOUNT FEATURES AND SERVICES

6.1 Balance transfers

We may permit you to transfer balances you owe to other financial institutions or companies to your Account.

- If you requested a balance transfer when you opened your Account, it may take three weeks or more from the time you request the balance transfer until we process your request.
- Balance transfers will count against your credit limit, just like any other transaction.
- Balance transfers do not earn rewards under reward programs.

Unless we tell you otherwise in a special rate offer, interest on balance transfer transactions will be at the APR for purchases, however, balance transfers are not eligible for the grace period. Keep in mind that if you transfer a balance using a Convenience Check, that transaction will be treated like any other Convenience Check transaction, so it will be subject to the APR for cash advances and the cash advance fee, unless we tell you otherwise.

Balances you can transfer

You can transfer balances from most non-PNC financial institutions or credit-related companies. The following items do not qualify as balance transfers and will not be processed:

- Requests to transfer a balance from an account at PNC Bank or one of our affiliates
- Requests to transfer cash between individuals
- Recurring payments to the same company or financial institution

Generally, you can only transfer balances of at least $200, but we may choose to process a balance transfer for less than $200. If you request a balance transfer that would cause your Account to exceed its credit limit, we may do any of the following, at our discretion:

- Accept the entire amount of the requested balance transfer;
- Accept only a portion of the amount requested as a balance transfer, or
- Refuse to process any amount of the requested balance transfer.

You should not include in any balance transfer recently disputed charges with other creditors. Transferring disputed charges may cause you to give up certain dispute rights you may have. We may deny any balance transfer request for any reason.

Transferring your balance from another account will not automatically close that account. You will still need to contact the other creditor to close that account. You should continue to make at least your minimum payment on the account from which you are transferring a balance until that account is shown by the creditor as paid in full.

Introductory or promotional balance transfer offers

Occasionally, we may offer to let you transfer a balance to your Account at a special rate and/or fee. In our offer, we will tell you if the balance transfer will post to your Account as a purchase, cash advance or other kind of transaction, depending on the specifics of the offer. Balance transfers will be shown on your statement as described in the offer.

6.2 Foreign transactions

Transactions with merchants and financial institutions outside the U.S. and its territories are considered “foreign transactions.”

How we process foreign transactions

If you make a foreign transaction, including a return, in a foreign currency, Visa or Mastercard (as applicable) will convert the transaction to, and we will post it to your Account in, U.S. dollars. We will also charge a foreign transaction fee and applicable foreign transaction fee and applicable fees on your Account. The exchange rate that Visa or Mastercard uses to convert the transaction to U.S. dollars is the rate it has selected from the range of rates available in the wholesale currency markets for the applicable conversion date (which may differ from the rate Visa or Mastercard uses, or the government-mandated rate in effect for the applicable conversion date. The conversion rate may differ from other exchange rates for the foreign currency.

6.3 Optional overdraft protection

You can protect your PNC Bank checking account from overdraft fees and returned personal checks by enrolling in overdraft protection. This service is optional, your Account must be eligible to provide overdraft protection and you must enroll for it to take effect.

Once you enroll in overdraft protection, it may take up to 17 days for us to activate the service.

How overdraft protection works

If you make a transaction in your checking account that would cause it to be overdrawn, we will advance an amount from your Account to your checking account to cover the amount that is overdrawn, up to your cash advance limit.

Each overdraft protection advance must be for a minimum amount, which we will tell you in the overdraft protection terms and conditions for your checking account. Any amount over the minimum amount will be rounded up to the next whole dollar. We process advances after the close of business Monday through Friday. Only one advance will be made per day for each checking account.

Fees for overdraft protection

Each overdraft protection advance will post to your Account as a cash advance, and we will charge your Account the cash advance fee. In addition, we may refuse to make an overdraft protection advance for any of the following reasons:

- Your Account is in default;
- Your right to use your Account is closed or suspended; or
- The advance would exceed your Account’s cash advance limit.

If we refuse to make an overdraft protection advance, we... may, at our discretion, choose whether to pay or refuse any personal checks or other transactions to your checking account that would cause it to be overdrawn. In either case, certain checking account fees may apply. See the fee schedule for your checking account(s) for specific fee information.

Please include your Account number on your correspondence.

The Ohio Civil Rights Commission administers compliance with this law.

IF YOU RESIDE IN TEXAS: THIS WRITTEN AGREEMENT REPLACES THE FINAL AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE PARTIES AND MAY NOT BE CONSTRUED BY EVIDENCE OF PRIOR, CONTEMPORANEOUS OR SUBSEQUENT ORAL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE PARTIES. THERE ARE NO UNWRITTEN ORAL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE PARTIES.

9 ARBITRATION PROVISION
NOTE: If we have determined that you are a “covered borrower,” as that term is defined under the Military Lending Act regulation, 32 CFR Part 232 (meaning, generally, if you are active military or a dependent of active military at the time your Account is opened), the following arbitration provision does not apply to any of your PNC accounts. If you are a covered borrower, at the time of a later dispute between us, you are no longer a covered borrower.

READ THIS ARBITRATION PROVISION CAREFULLY; IT WILL IMPACT HOW LEGAL CLAIMS YOU AND WE HAVE AGAINST EACH OTHER ARE RESOLVED.
Under the terms of this Arbitration Provision, and except as set forth below, Claims (as defined below) will be resolved by impartial (and not class-wide) binding arbitration in accordance with the terms specified herein, if you or we elect it.

9.1 Your right to Opt Out; Effect of Arbitration

YOUR RIGHT TO OPT OUT; EFFECT OF ARBITRATION.

This Arbitration Provision will apply unless you opt out by providing proper and timely notice described in section 9.6 under “Right to Opt Out.” If a Claim is arbitratable, neither you nor we will have the right to (1) have a court or jury decide the Claim; (2) engage in information gathering (discovery) to the same extent as in court; (3) participate in a class action, private attorney general or other representative action in court or in arbitration; or (4) join or consolidate a Claim with those of any other person.

This Arbitration Provision will survive the termination of this Agreement. See further details below.

9.2 Definitions

“We,” “Us” and “Our.” Solely as used in this Arbitration Provision, the terms “we,” “us” and “our” also refer to (1) our employees, officers, directors, parents, controlling persons, subsidiaries, affiliates, predecessors, acquired entities, successors and assigns; and (2) any failed bank to the extent of the assets acquired by us or our affiliates.

Claim. A “Claim” subject to arbitration is any demand, cause of action, counterclaim, or any asserted right to monetary or equitable relief, whether past, present or future, and based upon any legal theory, including contract, tort, consumer protection law, fraud, statute, regulation, ordinance, or common law, which arises out of or relates to this Agreement, your Account, the events leading up to your becoming an Account holder (for example, advertisements or promotions), any feature or service provided in connection with your Account or any transaction conducted with us related to or of your Account.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the term “Claim” excludes: (a) any dispute or controversy about the validity, enforceability, coverage or scope of this Arbitration Provision; and (b) actions or claims brought by us or our affiliates against you, including, but not limited to, claims based upon any legal theory, including contract, tort, consumer protection law, fraud, statute, regulation, ordinance, or common law, which arises out of or relates to this Agreement, your Account, the events leading up to your becoming an Account holder (for example, advertisements or promotions), any feature or service provided in connection with your Account or any transaction conducted with us related to or of your Account.

9.3 Arbitration Procedures

9.3.1 Agreement to Arbitrate Claims

Except if you opt out as provided below, you and we may elect to arbitrate any Claim.

9.3.2 Electing arbitration

If you or we elect to arbitrate a Claim, the party electing arbitration must notify the other party in writing (the “Notice”). Your Notice to us shall be sent to PNC Bank, N.A., Legal Department, 300 Fifth Avenue, Mailstop: PT-P5GR-6K-1, Pittsburgh, PA 15222, Attn: Notice of Arbitration (the “Notice Address”). Our Notice to you shall be sent to the most recent primary address we have for you in our records. Any arbitration hearing that you attend will take place in a venue in the county where you reside unless you and we agree otherwise. If a party files a lawsuit in court asserting a Claim and the other party elects arbitration, such Notice may be asserted in papers filed in the lawsuit (for example, a motion by the defendant to compel arbitration of Claims asserted in the plaintiff’s lawsuit, filed in court). In the event that a court grants a motion to compel arbitration, either party may commence the arbitration proceeding in accordance with the rules and procedures of the arbitration administrator specified in this section.

9.3.3 Arbitration costs

We will pay the filing, administrative and/or arbitrator’s fees (“Arbitration Fees”) that we agree to pay pursuant to the administrator’s rules or the law. In addition, with respect to Arbitration Fees that you are required to pay under the administrator’s rules in connection with an individual arbitration you have commenced against us, (i) if the amount of your Claim does not exceed $75,000 and we receive a written request by you at the Notice Address, we will pay or reimburse you for your payment of said Arbitration Fees; (ii) if the amount of your Claim exceeds $75,000 and we receive a written request by you at the Notice Address, we will not reimburse you for Arbitration Fees if you are unable to pay them and cannot obtain a waiver or reduction of them from the arbitration administrator.

9.3.4 Arbitration administrator and rules

The party electing arbitration must choose between one of two administrators: (1) the American Arbitration Association (“AAA”), or (2) JAMS. The administrator chosen will apply its rules, costs and procedures; the effective rules in the particular arbitration are the ones the administrator chooses. You may obtain a copy of the rules, codes, and more information about initiating an arbitration, by (1) contacting AAA at 1–800–778–7879 or visiting www.arb.org, or (2) contacting JAMS at 800–535–2527 or visiting www.jamsadr.com. The arbitrator is bound by the terms of this Agreement. If neither AAA nor JAMS can serve, the parties may agree on another administrator, or a court may appoint one.

9.3.5 What law the arbitrator will apply

The arbitrator will not be bound by judicial rules of procedure and evidence that would apply in a court, or by state or local law that relate to arbitration procedures. However, the arbitrator will apply the same statutes of limitation and privileges that a court would apply if the matter were pending in court. In determining liability or awarding damages or other relief, the arbitrator will consider said substantive law, consistent with the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), that would apply if the matter had been brought in court.

9.3.6 The arbitrator’s decision and award; attorney fees

At the timely request of either party, the arbitrator shall provide a brief written explanation of the grounds for the decision. The arbitrator may award any damages or other relief that a court could have awarded in a lawsuit, except for any right of appeal pursuant to the Federal Arbitration Act. The arbitrator has the authority to award costs, expert witnesses and other forms of evidence that would apply in a court, or by state or local law that relate to arbitration procedures.

9.3.7 Effect of arbitration award; appeal

The arbitrator’s award shall be final and binding on all parties, except for any right of appeal provided by the Federal Arbitration Act. This Agreement evidences a transaction in interstate commerce, and thus the Federal Arbitration Act governs the interpretation and enforcement of this Arbitration Provision.

9.4 CLASS ACTION WAIVER

If either you or we elect to arbitrate a Claim, neither you nor we will have the right not to pay the remaining amount due on the purchase. If you receive our explanation but still believe your bill is wrong, you must write to us within 10 days telling us that you still refuse to pay. If you do so, we cannot report you as delinquent without also reporting that you are questioning your account. We may report you as delinquent on that amount if we believe you can reasonably be expected to pay the amount you are in controversy with.

What will happen after we receive your letter

When we receive your letter, we must do two things:

1. Within 30 days of receiving your letter, we must tell you that we received your letter. We will also tell you if we have received a similar letter from anyone else about your Account.

2. Within 90 days of receiving your letter, we must either correct the error or explain to you why we believe the bill is correct.

While we investigate whether or not there has been an error:

• We cannot try to collect the amount in question, or report you as delinquent on that amount.

• The charge in question may remain on your Statement, and we may continue to charge you interest on that amount.

• While you do not have to pay the amount in question, you are responsible for the remainder of your balance.

• We can apply any unpaid amount against your credit limit.

After we finish our investigation, one of two things will happen:

• If we made a mistake: You will not have to pay the amount in question or any interest or other fees related to that amount.

• If we do not believe there was a mistake: You will have to pay the amount in question, along with applicable interest and fees. We will send you a Statement of the amount you owe and the date payment is due. We may then report you as delinquent if you do not pay the amount we say you owe.

If you receive our explanation but still believe your bill is wrong, you must write to us within 10 days telling us that you still refuse to pay. If you do so, we cannot report you as delinquent without also reporting that you are questioning your account. We may report you as delinquent on that amount if we believe you can reasonably be expected to pay the amount you are in controversy with.
