

A GUIDE TO KEY FEATURES OF YOUR CREDIT CARD ACCOUNT

Thanks for opening your new credit card account with PNC Bank, National Association. We provide this one page guide to help you better understand key features of your account, but please be sure to read your credit card agreement for all the details.

Managing your credit wisely

Here are tips for using your credit card responsibly:

Tips	Keep in mind
Pay on time If you make your payment on time each month, you'll avoid late fees and potentially having your APRs raised to a higher "Penalty APR." Failing to pay on time can result in a lower credit score.	If you think you won't be able to make your minimum monthly payment, call 1-800-558-8472. Special payment options may be available to you. Be sure to contact us early, before fees and interest add up.
Stay within your credit limit If you try to make a transaction that would exceed your credit limit, it may be declined.	Your initial credit limit is printed on your card carrier. You can check your credit limit, available credit and balance any time by signing on to PNC Online Banking at pnc.com. And if you'd like, we can even send you email or text message alerts that let you know when you are getting close to, or have reached, your credit limit.
Try to pay off your balance each month Interest charges can add up if you carry a balance.	Generally, the more you pay toward your balance each month, the less interest you'll pay and the faster you'll pay off your balance. And if you pay your entire balance – not just your purchases – in full each month you'll avoid paying interest on new purchases. This is called your "grace period" for new purchases. Remember though – there is no grace period for cash advances or balance transfers. For details, see section 4.1.1 and 6.1 of your credit card agreement.
Check your statement each month Make sure that all transactions you made are reported correctly and that no one has used your account without your permission.	PNC Bank takes steps to protect your account from fraud and errors, but you can help by promptly reviewing your statements and notifying us if you find anything suspicious. It's also a good idea to check your statement to confirm that we've received your payment and posted the payment to your account. Detailed information about what to do if you find a mistake on your statement is provided in your credit card agreement and each month on your statement.

Making payments

We offer several options that make it easy for you to make your payments on time and avoid late fees. If you make your payments using one of the options below and meet additional payment requirements (details on our requirements are on your statement each month and in section 3.3 of your credit card agreement), we will credit your payment as follows:

If you make a payment...	We will credit your payment as of...
By mail, sent to the P.O. Box printed on your payment coupon	the day we receive it, if received by 5:00 p.m. ET, next day if received after 5:00 p.m. ET
Using our automated telephone payment service: 1-800-558-8472	the day made, if made before midnight ET, next day if made on or after midnight ET
By signing on to PNC Online Banking at pnc.com and clicking on "Make a Payment" or "Pay Today" on the account activity screen for your account.	the day made, if made before midnight ET, next day if made on or after midnight ET

Keep in mind – Sometimes it may take us a few days to process your payment. If that happens, your payment will still be credited to your account as noted above – even though that payment may not immediately show in your PNC Online Banking account or on your statement. Also, it may take 7 or more days before your payment amount is available to re-borrow as part of your available credit.

About your minimum payment

Each month you must pay at least your minimum payment on time. The amount of your minimum payment can change from month to month. Not making at least your minimum payment each month could result in an increase to your APRs; reduction of your credit limit or closure of your account; and/or a decline in your credit score.

Keep in mind, if you pay only the minimum payment, you'll pay more in interest over time, and it will take you longer to pay off your balance. We'll remind you of this every month on your statement with a minimum payment warning.

Dispute resolution through arbitration

If you have a claim and we are unable to resolve it informally, you or we may elect to resolve it by individual binding arbitration in accordance with the terms of the Arbitration Provision of your credit card agreement. If a claim is arbitrated, it will not be heard by a court or jury. Also, it will proceed as an individual action, and that means neither you nor we will have the right to participate in a class action in court. You have the right to opt out of the arbitration process by providing timely notice to us. Please refer to the Arbitration Provision located in section 9 of your credit card agreement for complete details.

NOTE: If you are active military or a dependent of active military, the Arbitration Provision may not apply to you. For details, please see section 9 of your credit card agreement.

Jury trial waiver notice

For any dispute that is not arbitrated: Your credit card agreement includes a section called "Jury Trial Waiver." A jury trial waiver is an agreement to waive any right to a trial by a jury in the event of litigation between you and us. Please refer to section 8.6 of your credit card agreement for complete details.

NOTE: If you are active military or a dependent of active military, the Jury Trial Waiver provision may not apply to you. For details, please see section 8.6 of your credit card agreement.

Changes to your credit card account

We can change the terms of your credit card agreement, including your interest rates and fees, or close your account at any time and for any reason, unless prohibited by applicable law. Some common reasons for closing an account include not making your payments on time, a significant drop in your credit rating or not using your account for a long time. We may also increase or decrease your credit limit at any time.

Military Lending Act protections

If we determine that you are a "covered borrower," as that term is defined under the Military Lending Act regulation ("MLA"), 32 CFR Part 232 (meaning, generally, if you are active military or a dependent of active military at the time your account is opened), and your credit card account is subject to the provisions of the MLA, the following notice applies to your account during the period you are a covered borrower.

Federal law provides important protections to members of the Armed Forces and their dependents relating to extensions of consumer credit. In general, the cost of consumer credit to a member of the Armed Forces and his or her dependent may not exceed an annual percentage rate of 36 percent. This rate must include, as applicable to the credit transaction or Account: The costs associated with credit insurance premiums; fees for ancillary products sold in connection with the credit transaction; any application fee charged (other than certain application fees for specified credit transactions or accounts); and any participation fee charged (other than certain participation fees for a credit card account).

To hear this statement, and a description of your payment obligation, please call 1-844-875-6224.

1 INTRODUCTION

This Agreement governs your Account, which we have opened at your request.

You are agreeing to all the terms and conditions of this Agreement:

- When you use the Account or allow anyone else (an authorized user) to use the Account; or
- 10 days after we send or otherwise deliver this Agreement to you, whichever happens first.

Your legal representative, including any attorney-in-fact you may appoint, shall also be subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

1.1 Basic terms defined

We, us, PNC Bank and our: PNC Bank, National Association and its successors and assignees

You and your: Any person who, verbally or in writing (including electronically), applies or accepts our offer for, or who otherwise agrees to be financially responsible with respect to, the Account

Account: Your credit card account with us

Agreement: This PNC Bank Consumer Credit Card Agreement and the accompanying Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures, as may be changed from time to time, and the terms of any Convenience Checks or special offers we make to you

Billing Cycle: A period of time for your Account that can change from month to month, but is typically 30 or 31 days, except that the first Billing Cycle for your Account, which begins on the day your Account is opened, may be much shorter. A Billing Cycle occurs even if there is no activity on your Account during the days in that Billing Cycle and we do not provide you with a Statement for that Billing Cycle

Card or Cards: Any credit card(s) we issue to you or an authorized user for accessing your Account

Card Mailer: A document we provide to you to which your Card(s) is/are attached

Convenience Check(s): Any convenience check(s) we provide to you for accessing your Account

Due Date: The date a required payment is due as shown on your Statement. To be considered received by the due date, a payment must be made by that date in accordance with our payment requirements, including in time to be credited to your Account by that date. For information on our payment requirements and when we credit payments, see section 3.4. We also include this information on your Statement each month.

Example

A customer's current statement shows that the minimum payment is due March 15. The customer makes a payment using our automated telephone payment service on March 15 at 11:00 p.m. pacific time (2:00 a.m. eastern time on March 16).

Because the customer did not make the payment before midnight eastern time (the cut off time for this payment option), the payment was not made by the customer's due date. Assuming the customer met our other payment requirements, the payment will be credited to the customer's account as of March 16 and the account will be assessed a late fee.

Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures: The tables of interest rates and fees provided with this Agreement

Posting/Crediting: The application of a transaction, such as a payment or purchase, to your Account

Statement: A document that we send or otherwise deliver to you for a Billing Cycle that shows your Account activity and any amount due

2 USING YOUR ACCOUNT

You agree to use your Account only for personal, family, or household purposes. You may use your Account for the following types of transactions:

- Purchases: Use of your Card or your Account number to buy or lease goods or services from a participating merchant.
- Cash advances: Use of your Account to obtain cash from us or from another participating financial institution by using a Card at an automated teller machine (ATM), by issuing a Convenience Check against your Account, by transferring funds from your Account to a deposit account, or by any other means we offer. Cash advances also include the use of your Account to purchase cash equivalent items. Cash equivalent items are items that are similar to cash, including, but not limited to, traveler's checks, wire transfers, money orders, gift cards, virtual currencies and stored value cards. Transactions made at or with a financial institution (such as the purchase of a CD or funding of a savings account), payments to government entities, payments using a third party service, including person to person money transfer services, and lottery, betting or gambling purchases are also cash equivalent items. All cash advances are subject to the cash advance APR and cash advance fee. Cash advances do not earn rewards under reward programs.

• Balance transfers: Information about balance transfers is provided in Section 6.1 of this Agreement.

You may not use your Account to buy lottery tickets, place bets or gamble if these transactions are made online. You also may not use your Account for any illegal transactions.

We may refuse to authorize a transaction if:

- the transaction would cause you to exceed your credit limit or cash advance limit or otherwise cause you to be in default as described in section 7.1 of this Agreement;
- you are already in default as described in section 7.1 of this Agreement;
- your right to use the Account has been suspended; or
- your Account has been closed.

You must sign your Card before you use it. We are not responsible for anyone refusing to honor a Card or Convenience Check. Except as described in the "Your billing rights" notice provided with this Agreement or otherwise required by applicable law, we have no liability for any claim you may have arising out of your or an authorized user's use of the Account, including any claim for a purchase made with a Card.

You must tell us at once if you change your name, address or employment.

2.1 Your credit limit

We establish a credit limit for your Account. This is the maximum amount of credit we have established for your Account. As part of your total credit limit, you have a separate cash advance limit. Your available credit is the difference between your credit limit and your total balance and any pending transactions. The amount you have available for cash advances is the difference between your cash advance limit and your total cash advance balance and any pending cash advance transactions.

Example

A customer has a credit limit of $5,000 and a cash advance limit of $1,250. The customer currently has a balance of $2,000.

Total credit limit	$5,000
Account balance	- $2,000
Total available credit	= $3,000

Customer's balance of $2,000 includes a convenience check the customer wrote for $500 and the associated cash advance fee of $25

Cash advance limit	$1,250
Cash advance	- $525

Amount available for additional cash advances	= $725
---	---------

Right now, the customer has $3,000 of available credit that could be used for additional purchases, but only $725 could be used for cash advances.

Where to find the amount of your credit limit, cash advance limit, and available credit.

Your initial credit limit and cash advance limit are printed on your Card Mailer. Your total credit limit, total available credit, and total available for cash advances are shown on your Statement each month. We may also make more current information about your Account, including your Account balance, available at pnc.com/onlinebanking.

We may increase or decrease your credit limit or cash advance limit at any time and for any reason.

If you exceed your limit

We have no obligation to authorize any transaction that would put you over your credit limit or cash advance limit but may do so at our discretion.

If we do authorize a transaction that will put you over your credit limit or cash advance limit, you will still be responsible for paying those transactions. If you receive a Statement showing that you went over your credit limit, you must pay the overlimit amount by the Due Date shown on that Statement.

3 BILLING AND PAYMENTS

You agree to pay all amounts due on your Account. If you allow anyone to use your Account, you are responsible for all charges made by that person, even if the charges are more than you expected or for which you gave permission.

3.1 Your statement

At the end of each Billing Cycle, we will provide a Statement that covers the Billing Cycle, to the extent required by applicable law. We tell you on your Statement the number of days in the Billing Cycle covered by the Statement as well as the Statement period end date (closing date) of that Billing Cycle. If you make no transactions during a Billing Cycle, we may not provide a Statement to you for that Billing Cycle.

We will send only one Statement per Billing Cycle for your Account. We will send each Statement to the postal address we have on file that we have designated as the "primary" address for your Account. If you have opted for us to provide your Statements electronically, we will not have any obligation to send any Statements to your postal address. We may, at our discretion, round or truncate any amounts shown on your Statement, subject to any restrictions under applicable law.

3.2 Your minimum payment

You must pay at least the minimum payment each Billing Cycle by the Due Date shown on your Statement.

If you pay more than the minimum payment due for one Billing Cycle, you will still need to pay the full minimum payment due for the next Billing Cycle. There is no charge or penalty for paying more than the minimum payment.

How we calculate your minimum payment

Your minimum payment will be the greater of:

Calculation 1

$27
+ Any past due amounts OR

Calculation 2

1.0% of the new balance shown on your Statement
+ The total interest, including any minimum interest charge, shown on your Statement
+ Any cash advance fees shown on your Statement
+ Any late or return payment fees shown on your Statement
+ Any past due amounts

If your new balance is less than $27, you must pay the new balance in full.

Example

A customer's statement shows a new balance of $500, including a past due amount of $38. The customer has been charged $10.60 in interest and a $27 late fee because the customer did not make his last payment on time.

His minimum payment will be the greater of:

Calculation 1

Flat amount	$27.00
Amount past due	+ $38.00
	= $65.00

Calculation 2

.01 x $500 (New balance)	$5.00
Total Interest	+ $10.60
Late fee	+ $27.00
Amount past due	+ $38.00
	= $80.60

Because $80.60 is greater than $65.00, the minimum payment due this Billing Cycle is $80.60.

If you owe any amount over your credit limit, as previously stated, that amount is also due on the Due Date. Your Statement will show both the minimum payment due and overlimit amount due, if applicable. The total of your minimum payment and your overlimit amount will be shown on your Statement as your total payment due.

Periodically, you may receive a credit to your Account, such as when you redeem a reward for a monetary credit to your Account. Credits are not applied to your Account as payments.

3.3 How to make payments

We provide several ways for you to make a payment.

- Online: Sign on to PNC Online Banking at pnc.com and click on "Make a Payment" or "Pay Today" on the account activity screen for your Account.
- Mail: Send your payment to the P.O. Box on your Statement coupon.
- Phone: Use our automated telephone payment service by calling: 800-558-8472

Your use of the telephone payment service, together with the entry of your PIN, is your authorization for us to initiate a charge (via an ACH debit or other electronic entry) to the designated checking or savings account in order to make the payment you requested. Once you have completed the authorization, it can only be revoked by contacting PNC Bank at 800-558-8472.

If our attempt to charge your checking or savings account is unsuccessful because there are insufficient funds in the account you designate – or for any other reason – we may charge you a returned payment fee in accordance with the terms of this Agreement.

3.4 Crediting your payments to your Account

If you use one of the payment options listed in section 3.3 to make your payment and you comply with the additional payment requirements set out in this section, we will credit your payment as follows:

- Payments mailed to the P.O. Box printed on your statement coupon received by 5:00 p.m. eastern time will be credited same day received.

- Payments made before midnight eastern time using our automated telephone payment service will be credited same day made.
- Payments made before midnight eastern time by signing on to PNC Online Banking and clicking on "Make a Payment" or "Pay Today" on the account activity screen for your Account will be credited same day made.
- Payments received/made after the above cut-off times will be credited the next day.

If you don't use one of the options listed in section 3.3 and/or don't comply with the following additional payment requirements, crediting of your payment may be delayed up to 5 days or your payment may be rejected.

Additional payment requirements: All payments must be in U.S. dollars and drawn on an account at a U.S. financial institution. You may not use a Convenience Check to make a payment on your Account. When sending your payment by mail, you must use the envelope provided with your Statement, make sure our address is showing through the envelope window and include your payment coupon; do not send cash or include paper clips, staples, tape, or other correspondence with your payment.

3.5 How we apply your payments

Application of your payments is at our discretion, and generally that means that we will apply your payments to balances with lower APRs before balances with higher APRs. However, any amounts you pay in excess of your minimum payment due will be allocated to balances with higher APRs before balances with lower APRs.

When you make a payment, it may take 7 or more days before the payment amount is available to re-borrow as part of your total available credit.

3.6 Skipped or reduced minimum monthly payments

We may, at our sole discretion, permit you to skip a monthly payment or make a reduced monthly minimum payment on a limited basis over a specified time period. Our permission will be offered only during isolated occasions, for example, during a federally declared disaster that impacts you. If you take advantage of an offer to skip or make a reduced monthly minimum payment, interest will continue to accrue on your entire unpaid Account balance according to the terms of this Agreement. You may not skip or reduce your monthly minimum payment unless we make an offer to you.

4 INTEREST CHARGES

4.1 When interest charges apply

We begin to charge interest on your transactions as follows:

- Purchases and cash advances (other than Convenience Checks) and any related transaction fees: On the day you make the transaction.
- Balance transfers and any related transaction fees: On the day the transaction posts to your Account.
- Convenience Checks and any related transaction fees: On the day the Convenience Check posts to your Account.
- All other fees and charges: On the day we post such fee or charge to your Account.

We continue to charge interest on these transactions, fees, and charges until you pay your balance in full and your payment is credited to your Account.

4.1.1 How to avoid paying interest on new purchases (grace period)

If you pay your entire new balance showing on your current Statement by your Due Date, you may avoid paying interest on new purchases appearing on your next Statement if you pay those new purchases by the Due Date shown on that next Statement. This is called a grace period. There is no grace period for cash advances and balance transfers. Please refer to section 6.1 for information on how transferring a balance can impact your grace period on new purchases.

4.2 Your APRs

Your Annual Percentage Rates (APRs) are the interest rates that determine how much interest you will pay on your Account for each Billing Cycle. Any variable APR that applies to your Account equals the value of an "index" plus a margin.

Please refer to the Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures for the margins (for any variable APR), daily periodic rates of interest and APRs that apply to your Account. As specified in Section 8.1, we may change your APRs from time to time.

The index

The index used to calculate any variable APRs applicable to your Account and in effect for each Billing Cycle is the "Prime Rate" of interest appearing in the "Money Rates" section of The Wall Street Journal published on the 20th day of the month preceding the first day of that Billing Cycle or, if The Wall Street Journal is not published on that date, the next day on which such Prime Rate is published. If The Wall Street Journal stops publishing the Prime Rate, we will choose a similar rate to use as the index.

Example

A customer has a Billing Cycle that starts on March 25, 2023. The customer's purchase APR is a variable rate determined by adding a margin of 12.99% to the value of the index. To determine the purchase APR that will apply to a Billing Cycle that starts on March 25, 2023, we first need to determine the value of the index. We do that by looking at the prime rate listed in the "Money Rates" section of The Wall Street Journal on March 20, 2023.

On that date, the prime rate listed was 7.75%. Therefore, the customer's APR for purchases for that Billing Cycle starting March 25, 2023 is 12.99% (their margin) + 7.75% (the prime rate) = 20.74%.

Any increase or decrease in the value of the index will result in a corresponding increase or decrease in the periodic rates of interest and APRs that apply to your Account as well as the minimum payment amount (unless the minimum payment amount is equal to or less than $27) and amount of interest you'll pay. Any change to your periodic rates of interest and corresponding APRs that is a result of a change to the index will be effective as of the first day of the applicable Billing Cycle. Your APRs for a Billing Cycle are shown on your Statement for that Billing Cycle.

Introductory or promotional APR

If your Account comes with any introductory APRs, information about those introductory APRs is provided in the Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures. In addition, we may occasionally make promotional (special rate) offers to you.

If we offer you a special rate, we will tell you:

- Rate: The special APR that will apply
- Promotional Period: How long the special rate will apply
- Eligible transactions: The transactions or balances to which the special rate will apply
- Fees: Any fees that apply

We will calculate interest on eligible transactions separate from the rest of the transactions on your Account. Your Statement will show any balances to which a special rate applies.

We may cancel a special rate if you trigger the Penalty APR.

Penalty APR

If we do not receive a minimum payment within 60 days after your Due Date, we may apply the higher Penalty APR to all your balances and future transactions. If we do this, we will notify you, as required by applicable law. After the Penalty APR goes into effect, if you make at least your required minimum payments for six consecutive Billing Cycles by the applicable Due Dates, then, beginning the first day of the next Billing Cycle after you've met these payment requirements, we'll stop using the Penalty APR and use the APRs that would otherwise apply to your Account.

4.3 How we calculate interest charges

We use the average daily balance (including new transactions) method to calculate the amount of interest on your Account. That means we use the formula below to calculate interest for each different transaction type on your Account. Then we add the interest for each transaction type together to get the total amount of interest that applies to your Account.

Your Account may have one or more of the following transaction types: purchases, cash advances, protected balances, and special rate transactions. For purposes of calculating interest, balance transfers are considered non-promotional purchases unless a special rate offer applies, in which case they are treated as special rate transactions.

Formula used to calculate interest on each transaction type

$$\text{Daily periodic rate of interest} \times \text{Average daily balance} \times \text{Number of days in Billing Cycle} = \text{Interest charges}$$

To use this formula, we first have to calculate components of the formula.

Daily periodic rate of interest

The daily periodic rate is the applicable APR divided by 365.

$$\frac{\text{APR}}{\div 365} = \text{Daily periodic rate of interest}$$

Because you may have a different APR for each transaction type, you may have a different daily periodic rate of interest for each transaction type.

Average daily balance

We calculate the average daily balance for each transaction type (as previously stated, balance transfers are calculated as part of the average daily balance for purchases, unless they are subject to a special rate offer) as follows:

Each day, we calculate the daily balance for each transaction type as follows:

- Unpaid amount of transactions (which may include unpaid interest and fees from previous Billing Cycles)
 - Any payments or credits applied to those transactions as of that day
 - + Any new transactions, applicable fees, and interest on the previous day's balance
- = Daily balance

At the end of the Billing Cycle, we calculate the average of these daily balances as follows:

$$\frac{\text{Sum of daily balances for the Billing Cycle}}{\div \text{Number of days in the Billing Cycle}} = \text{Average daily balance}$$

Example

The example below shows how we would calculate interest for a customer with an average daily balance for purchases of $400 and a purchase APR of 15%.

Daily periodic rate of interest for purchases	15% ÷ 365 = .04109%
Average daily balance	$400
Days in Billing Cycle	30
Calculation of interest charges
Daily periodic rate	.04109%
Average daily balance	x $400.00
Days in Billing Cycle	x 30
Interest charges for purchases	= $4.93

If this customer also made cash advance transactions, we would add the interest for purchases to the interest for cash advances to get a total amount of interest for the Account.

Rounding and truncation

We may, at our discretion, round or truncate these amounts, subject to any restrictions under applicable law.

Minimum interest charge

You will always be charged at least a minimum amount of interest for a Billing Cycle, unless there is no interest charge at all for that Billing Cycle. The amount of your minimum interest charge is shown on your Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures. Any minimum interest charge assessed to your Account will be shown under the "Fees" section of your Statement.

4.4 Qualifying for a purchase APR Reduction (Margin Reduction Program)

4.4.1 Definitions

For purposes of this Section 4.4, Review Period means the first 12 billing cycles following Account opening and each twelve (12) Billing Cycle period thereafter. Review Period End Date means the last day of the last Billing Cycle in a Review Period. Net Purchases means purchases as defined in Section 2 minus merchant credits and plus or minus appropriate purchase adjustments posted to your Account. Consistent with the definition of purchases in Section 2, Net Purchases does not include cash advances or balance transfers, nor does it include, among other things, interest or fees assessed to your Account.

4.4.2 When we review your Account; Amount of purchase Margin Reduction

Subject to the limitations specified in this Section 4.4, once each year, as of the applicable Review Period End Date, we will review your Account to determine whether you have qualified for a two (2) percentage point reduction to of the standard purchase margin that applies to your Account (Margin Reduction). The Margin Reduction Program does not apply to your standard cash advance margin and will not impact any introductory or promotional APR that applies to your Account.

4.4.3 How to qualify for a Margin Reduction; When we apply the Margin Reduction

To qualify for a Margin Reduction, during the Review Period you must:

- have made at least three thousand dollars ($3,000) in Net Purchases; AND
- have made at least your minimum payment due by each Due Date in the Review Period.

If you qualify for a Margin Reduction, the Margin Reduction will apply to the Account beginning the first day of the first billing cycle following the applicable Review Period.

4.4.4 How we determine the date of a purchase, merchant credit or adjustment

We use the date a purchase, merchant credit, or other adjustment posts to your Account to determine Net Purchases made during a Review Period. Typically, the transaction date and the post date are the same, but sometimes they can differ depending on when the transaction becomes final. Pending transactions are not posted transactions. The date a purchase, merchant credit, or other adjustment is posted is reflected on the applicable monthly Statement.

If a payment is returned and, as a result, you do not meet your minimum payment obligation for a Billing Cycle, you will not be eligible for a Margin Reduction at the end of the applicable Review Period.

4.4.5 When we won't review your Account for a Margin Reduction; Maximum Reduction

Once your standard purchase margin is reduced to 8.74%, we will have no further obligation to review your Account for, nor will you be entitled to, any additional Margin Reductions.

In addition, regardless of whether you meet the requirements to receive a Margin Reduction as of any Review Period End Date, if, during the applicable Review Period or at the time we review your Account to determine whether you met the requirements of the Margin Reduction Program, your Account was subject to a hardship or similar special program, or a Margin Reduction would result in negative standard purchase APR, we will have no obligation to review your Account for a Margin Reduction or apply a Margin Reduction to your Account.

If, in our sole discretion, you have engaged in gaming with respect to the purchase requirement to qualify for a Margin Reduction, such as returning a purchase you made to qualify for a Margin Reduction, we will have no obligation to apply a Margin Reduction to your Account and may immediately close your Account. We may terminate the Margin Reduction Program at any time and for any reason in our sole discretion.

4.4.6 Due date change

You may ask us to change the due date on your Account. If we agree, the change may result in a change to the Review Period End Date for one or more subsequent Review Periods.

4.4.7 Examples of how the Margin Reduction Program works

Example 1: For the purposes of this example, let's call our customer "Pat."

Pat's PNC credit card account was opened on January 1, 2024. The first Review Period End Date for Pat's account was January 1, 2025. When Pat's PNC credit card account was opened, the standard purchase margin that applied to the account was 18.74%. On or about January 2, 2025, we reviewed Pat's account and determined that during Pat's first Review Period, Pat made $3,500 in Net Purchases and made at least the minimum payment due on the account by each Due Date. As a result, Pat qualified for a Margin Reduction of two percentage points.

Beginning with the billing cycle starting on January 2, 2025, Pat's purchase margin was reduced by two percentage points to 16.74%. As explained above, the margin is added to the index value to determine the Purchase APR that applies to Pat's Account.

In this example, Pat's next Review Period is from January 2, 2025, through January 1, 2026. On or about January 2, 2026, we again reviewed Pat's account to see if Pat qualified for another Margin Reduction. We determined that during this Review Period, Pat made $3,000 in Net Purchases on January 1, 2026, and made at least the minimum payment due on the account by each Due Date. $500 of the purchases, however, did not post to Pat's account until January 3, 2026. Because Pat did not make at least three thousand dollars in Net Purchases during this Review Period, Pat did not qualify for another Margin Reduction. The next Review Period on Pat's account is January 2, 2026, through January 1, 2027. The next time we will review Pat's account to determine whether Pat qualifies for a Margin Reduction is on or about January 2, 2027.

Example 2: For the purposes of this example, let's call our customer "Fred."

Fred's PNC credit card account was opened on January 1, 2024. The first Review Period End Date for Fred's account was January 1, 2025. Fred made $3,500 in purchases that posted to his account on December 24, 2024. Fred returned $700 of those purchases on December 29, 2024, but those returns weren't credited to Fred's account until the second Review Period, on January 4, 2025.

In this example, Fred made at least $3,000 in Net Purchases for the first Review Period; however, as of January 4, 2025, Fred's Net Purchase balance is minus $700 because of the merchant return credit. To make up for the merchant return credit of $700, assuming there are no other purchase adjustments during the second Review Period, Fred will need to make at least $3,700 in purchases during the second Review Period to have made $3,000 in Net Purchases ($3,700 - $700 merchant credit = $3,000 in Net Purchases) as well as make at least the minimum payment due on the account by each Due Date to qualify for a Margin Reduction at the end of the second Review Period.

5 FEES

There are certain fees associated with managing your Account. These fees are in addition to any interest charges associated with a transaction.

If you are charged a penalty fee for making a late payment or having a payment returned, you must still make any required payment due and owing on your Account.

Transaction fees are included in the average daily balance for the corresponding transaction type. For example, cash advance fees are included in the average daily balance for cash advances. Penalty fees, such as the late fee, and service fees, such as the stop payment fee, are included in the average daily balance for purchases.

We show the amount of each fee that applies to your Account in your Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures. The table that follows describes when those fees may be applied to your Account. If a particular fee does not apply to your Account, your Interest Rate and Fee Disclosures will show "none" or "$0" - or similar language - for that fee or will not show that fee at all. As specified in Section 8.1, fees on your Account are subject to change.

Fee	When this fee is charged
Annual	When the Account is opened and every year after that.
Balance Transfer	When you transfer balances to your Account as explained in Section 6.1.
Cash Advance	When you take a cash advance. See Section 2 for a description of transactions that are "cash advances."
Foreign Transaction	When you make a foreign transaction as explained in Section 6.2.
Maintenance	Each month your Account is open.
Late Payment	When your minimum payment for a Billing Cycle is not received by the Due Date.
Returned Payment	If you make a payment on your account and the payment is returned unpaid.
Stop Payment	When you ask us to stop payment on a Convenience Check or balance transfer or when you renew a stop payment order.

6 ACCOUNT FEATURES AND SERVICES

6.1 Balance transfers

We may permit you to transfer balances you owe to other financial institutions or companies to your Account.

- If you requested a balance transfer when you opened your Account, it may not be processed for up to 13 days after your request to allow us time to provide you with legally required disclosures.
- Balance transfers will count against your credit limit, just like any other transaction.
- Balance transfers do not earn rewards under reward programs.

Unless we tell you otherwise in a special rate offer, interest on balance transfer transactions will be at the APR for Balance Transfers. Balance Transfers are not eligible for the grace period.

Keep in mind that if you transfer a balance using a Convenience Check, that transaction will be treated like any other Convenience Check transaction, so it will be subject to the APR for cash advances and the cash advance fee, unless we tell you otherwise.

Balances you can transfer

You can transfer balances from most non-PNC financial institutions or credit-related companies. The following items do not qualify as balance transfers and will not be processed:

- Requests to transfer a balance from an account at PNC Bank or one of our affiliates
- Requests to transfer cash between individuals
- Recurring payments to the same company or financial institution

Generally, you can only transfer balances of at least $200, but we may choose to process a balance transfer for less than that at our discretion.

If you request a balance transfer that would cause your Account to exceed its credit limit, we may do any of the following, at our discretion:

- Process the entire amount of the requested balance transfer;
- Process only a portion of the amount requested as a balance transfer;
- Refuse to process any amount of the requested balance transfer.

You should not include in any balance transfer recently disputed charges with other creditors. Transferring disputed charges may cause you to give up certain dispute rights you may have.

We may deny any balance transfer request for any reason.

Transferring your balance from another account will not automatically close that account. You will still need to contact the other creditor to close that account. You should continue to make at least your minimum payment on the account from which you are transferring a balance until that account is shown by the creditor as paid in full.

Introductory or promotional balance transfer offers

Occasionally, we may offer to let you transfer a balance to your Account at a special rate and/or fee. In our offer, we will tell you if the balance transfer will post to your Account as a purchase, cash advance or other kind of transaction, depending on the specifics of the offer. Balance transfers will be shown on your statement as described in the offer.

How transferring a balance could impact your grace period on new purchases

If you transfer a balance and also make new purchases, you may be assessed interest on new purchases. That is because when you transfer a balance, particularly a balance transfer that is subject to a special rate offer with a low or 0% APR, you typically carry that balance from month to month. As we stated in Section 4.1.1, you may lose your grace period on new purchases if you carry a balance from month to month.

6.2 Foreign transactions

Transactions with merchants and financial institutions outside the U.S. and its territories are considered "foreign transactions."

How we process foreign transactions

If you make a foreign transaction, including a return, in a foreign currency, Visa or Mastercard (as applicable) will convert the transaction to, and we will post it to your Account in, U.S. dollars. We will also charge a foreign transaction fee for each foreign transaction. The exchange rate that Visa or Mastercard uses to convert the transaction to U.S. dollars is the rate it has selected from the range of rates available in the wholesale currency markets for the applicable conversion date (which may differ from the rate Visa or Mastercard receives) or the government-mandated rate in effect for the applicable conversion date. The conversion rate may differ from other exchange rates for the foreign currency.

6.3 Optional overdraft protection

You can protect your PNC Bank checking account from overdraft fees and returned personal checks by enrolling in overdraft protection. This service is optional, and you must enroll for it to take effect.

Once you enroll in overdraft protection, it may take up to 17 days for us to activate the service.

How overdraft protection works

If you make a transaction in your checking account that would cause it to be overdrawn, we will advance an amount from your Account to your checking account to cover the amount that is overdrawn, up to your cash advance limit.

Each overdraft protection advance must be for a minimum amount, which we will tell you in the overdraft protection terms and conditions for your checking account. Any amount over the minimum amount will be rounded up to the next whole dollar. We process advances after the close of business Monday through Friday. Only one advance will be made per day for each checking account.

Fees for overdraft protection

Each overdraft protection advance will post to your Account as a cash advance, and we will charge your Account the cash advance fee.

Suspending or canceling overdraft protection

We will automatically cancel overdraft protection if your Account is closed, and we may cancel it if your Account remains open. In addition, we may refuse to make an overdraft protection advance for any of the following reasons:

- Your Account is in default;
- Your right to use your Account is closed or suspended;
- The advance would exceed your Account's cash advance limit; or
- The advance is for a payment to your Account.

If we refuse to make an overdraft protection advance, we may, at our discretion, choose to pay, return or decline any checks, electronic transactions, or any other withdrawal items or transactions that would cause your checking account to become overdrawn. Certain checking account fees may apply. See the schedule for your checking account(s) for specific fee information.

6.4 Stop payment orders on Convenience Checks

We may permit you to stop payment on a Convenience Check.

You (if your Account is a joint account, either of you) may make a stop payment order on a Convenience Check, even if somebody else wrote it. We may charge a fee for stop payment orders.

After we receive your stop payment order, it will be effective for six months, unless you notify us in writing to cancel the stop payment order sooner.

How to place a stop payment order

To place a stop payment order, call us at the number shown on your Statement. Please be ready with the following information about the Convenience Check you would like us to stop:

- Account number
- Check number
- Date
- Amount
- Name of party to be paid
- Your name and address

We process stop payment orders by computer, so make sure that the information you provide, such as the amount and Convenience Check number, is accurate. Otherwise, we cannot ensure the item you want stopped will not be paid.

We must receive your stop payment order with enough time and in a manner so that we can reasonably act on it before we have finalized your payment.

Extending a stop payment order

To extend a stop payment order, you need to write or call us before it expires. If you do not extend the stop payment order, we are allowed to pay an item presented to us after the stop payment order has expired.

If we inadvertently pay an item that you have a stop payment order on, we may not recredit your Account if you owe money to the payee. If we recredit your Account, you will have assigned us your rights against the payee(s), for the item and the underlying claim.

6.5 Lost or stolen Cards and Convenience Checks

You must tell us at once if your Card or Convenience Check is lost or stolen, or if you think someone used your Card or Convenience Check, or otherwise used your Account, without your permission.

To notify us, either write a letter to the address shown on your Statement, or call us at the phone number shown on your Statement. Until you do, you may have to pay up to $50 for the purchases and/or cash advances made by anyone who used the Card without your permission. You may also be liable for unauthorized use of Convenience Checks.

7 CLOSING OR SUSPENDING YOUR ACCOUNT

You may close your Account at any time and for any reason. If you call us to close your Account, we may require that you confirm our request in writing.

We have the right to suspend or close your Account at any time and for any reason subject to any restrictions under applicable law. We may also cancel our Visa or Mastercard credit card programs at any time and for any reason.

Whether your Account is closed by us, or by you, you must return all Cards and Convenience Checks, including all Cards and Convenience Checks you gave to others, if we request you to do so. After your Account is closed, you cannot use it to make new transactions. However, all other provisions of this Agreement will continue to apply, including your obligation to pay the full amount you owe us. If you do not pay the full amount you owe under this Agreement, unless prohibited by applicable law, you will be liable for our collection costs, including reasonable expenses for our attorney fees and legal actions.

7.1 What will cause you to be in default of this Agreement

You will be in default if:

- You become insolvent or bankrupt
- You are declared legally incapacitated or die
- You exceed your credit limit or cash advance limit
- You fail to make any payment due on your Account by the Due Date
- Your default on any obligation of yours to us
- You have had an adverse change in your financial circumstances and, in our good faith opinion, will not be able to make payments due or meet any other obligation you have to us
- Your Account becomes inactive
- Your Account is being used for fraud or improper purposes, or we have any reason to believe it is in danger of being used as such
- You are married and reside in a community property state, and we receive a written notice that your spouse is no longer liable on the Account (except where prohibited by law)
- You have made false statements affecting the Account application or maintenance of your Account
- This is a joint Account and one of you notifies us that they want the Account closed or will no longer be liable on your Account (except where prohibited by law)

If you are in default, we may immediately close your Account and you must immediately pay in full all amounts due on your Account, subject to any restrictions under applicable law.

7.2 Removing an authorized user

If you let someone use your Account (an "authorized user") and you want to stop that person from using your Account, you must destroy all Cards and Convenience Checks that are in that person's name or in that person's possession. If you wish to ensure that the authorized user has no further access to your Account, you must contact us and ask us to remove the authorized user from your Account and to provide you with a new Account number and a new Card or Cards.

8 OTHER TERMS THAT APPLY TO YOUR ACCOUNT

8.1 Changes to this Agreement

We may change this Agreement from time to time and for any reason, except as prohibited by applicable law. We may change fees, the annual percentage rates, whether the annual percentage rates are fixed or variable and other items. We will notify you of changes, if required by applicable law. Unless otherwise noted, we will send notices to the primary address we have in our records. If you have opted for us to provide notices electronically, we will not have any obligation to send such notices to your postal address.

In some cases, you may have the right to reject a change. We will tell you when you have that right and how and by what date and time you must notify us that you reject the change.

If you don't reject a change in the required manner and time period, you will be deemed to have accepted the changes in the notice and to have accepted and confirmed all terms of your Agreement.

8.2 Law that applies to this Agreement

The provisions of this Agreement will be governed by (i) federal laws and regulations and (ii) the laws of Delaware to the extent Delaware laws are not preempted by federal laws or regulations and without regard to conflict of law principles. If a court decides not to enforce a part of this Agreement, this Agreement will then read as if the unenforceable or invalid part were not there. All provisions in this Agreement are subject to any restrictions under applicable law.

For Maryland residents, only to the extent federal law and the laws of the State of Delaware do not apply, this Agreement is governed by Title 12, Subtitle 9 of the Maryland Commercial Law Article.

8.3 No waiver of rights/Oral agreements We will not lose any of our rights under this Agreement or otherwise even if we:

- Delay taking action for any reason;
- Take actions not listed in this Agreement;
- Accept late payments or partial payments; or
- Accept any payment marked with the words "Paid in Full" or similar language that is sent to an address other than the address provided in the "Conditional Payments" section of your Statement.

If there is a conflict between this Agreement and something said by an employee or officer of PNC Bank, this Agreement will be followed.

8.4 Transferring your Account

We may transfer your Account and our rights under this Agreement to another person or company. That person or company will take our place in this Agreement. You must pay that person or company the amount you owe us on your Account (instead of paying us) if you are asked to do so. You may not transfer your Account or your rights under this Agreement to any person or company.

8.5 Security interest

This Agreement does not give us a security interest in any of your property. We have no security interest for the Account, even if other agreements we have with you say that we do.

8.6 Jury trial waiver

NOTE: If we have determined that you are a "covered borrower," as that term is defined under the Military Lending Act regulation, 32 CFR Part 232 (meaning, generally, if you are active military or a dependent of active military at the time your Account is opened), the following Jury Trial Waiver provision does not apply to your Account even if, at the time of a later dispute between us, you are no longer a covered borrower.

For any dispute that is not arbitrated, you and we knowingly, willingly and voluntarily waive any right to a trial by jury in the event of a litigation arising from this Agreement.

8.7 Important information about phone calls, texts, prerecorded and email messages, and faxes

Note: When we use the term "PNC" in this Section 8.7, we mean PNC Bank, its affiliates and designees.

By providing telephone number(s) to us now or at any later time, you authorize PNC to contact you at those numbers, including by placing calls using an automated dialing system to a cell, VoIP, or other wireless phone number; and sending prerecorded messages or text messages to those numbers in order to service and collect your PNC accounts, but not to market to you, even if you may be charged for the calls or text messages.

You also consent to PNC:

- monitoring or recording any phone call with you;
- contacting you by email or any other form of electronic communication and/or by fax in accordance with applicable law; and
- using third parties to contact you by phone, email, other electronic communication or by fax to the same extent as though PNC were making those contacts itself.

8.8 Credit reporting

We may report information about your PNC Bank account(s) to credit bureaus. Late payments, missed payments or other defaults on your Account may be reflected in your credit report. If you believe that we have information about you that is inaccurate or that we have reported information about you that is inaccurate, please write to us as soon as possible at the Customer Service address that is shown on your monthly Statement. Please be sure to tell us which account, what information you believe is inaccurate, why it is inaccurate, and provide any supporting documentation, including a copy of your credit report if you have it. Please include your Account number on your correspondence.

8.9 SPECIAL NOTICES – THE FOLLOWING NOTICES ARE GIVEN BY US ONLY TO THE EXTENT NOT INCONSISTENT WITH 12 U.S.C.

SECTION 85 AND APPLICABLE FEDERAL REGULATIONS AND OPINIONS AND THE CHOICE OF LAW PROVISION SET FORTH HEREIN (WITH RESPECT TO WHICH WE EXPRESSLY RESERVE ALL RIGHTS).

IF YOU RESIDE IN MISSOURI: Oral agreements or commitments to loan money, extend credit or forbear from enforcing repayment of debt including promises to extend or renew such debt are not enforceable. To protect you (borrower(s)) and us (creditor) from misunderstanding or disappointment, any agreements we reach covering such matters are contained in this writing, which is the complete and exclusive statement of the agreement between us, except as we may later agree in writing to modify it.

IF YOU RESIDE IN OHIO: The Ohio laws against discrimination require that all creditors make credit equally available to all credit worthy customers, and that credit reporting agencies maintain separate credit histories on each individual upon request. The Ohio Civil Rights Commission administers compliance with this law.

IF YOU RESIDE IN TEXAS: THIS WRITTEN AGREEMENT REPRESENTS THE FINAL AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE PARTIES AND MAY NOT BE CONTRADICTED BY EVIDENCE OF PRIOR, CONTEMPORANEOUS OR SUBSEQUENT ORAL AGREEMENTS OF THE PARTIES. THERE ARE NO UNWRITTEN ORAL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE PARTIES.

8.10 Verifying your information

You agree that, in order to service and maintain your Account, we may obtain information about you, including your employment and income information, from other creditors, credit reporting agencies, employers and other third parties, including through records maintained by federal and state agencies.

9 ARBITRATION PROVISION

NOTE: If we have determined that you are a “covered borrower,” as that term is defined under the Military Lending Act regulation, 32 CFR Part 232 (meaning, generally, if you are active military or a dependent of active military at the time your Account is opened), the following Arbitration Provision does not apply to your Account even if, at the time of a later dispute between us, you are no longer a covered borrower.

READ THIS ARBITRATION PROVISION CAREFULLY: IT WILL IMPACT HOW LEGAL CLAIMS YOU AND WE HAVE AGAINST EACH OTHER ARE RESOLVED.

Under the terms of this Arbitration Provision, and except as set forth below, Claims (as defined below) will be resolved by individual (and not class-wide) binding arbitration in accordance with the terms specified herein, if you or we elect it.

9.1 YOUR RIGHT TO OPT OUT; EFFECT OF ARBITRATION.

This Arbitration Provision will apply unless you opt out by providing proper and timely notice described in section 9.8 under “Right to Opt Out.” If a Claim is arbitrated, neither you nor we will have the right to: (1) have a court or jury decide the Claim; (2) engage in information gathering (discovery) to the same extent as in court; (3) participate in a class action, private attorney general or other representative action in court or in arbitration; or (4) join or consolidate a Claim with those of any other person.

This Arbitration Provision will survive the termination of this Agreement. See further details below.

9.2 Definitions

“We,” “Us” and “Our.” Solely as used in this Arbitration Provision, the terms “we,” “us” and “our” also refer to (1) our employees, agents, officers, directors, parents, controlling persons, subsidiaries, affiliates, predecessors, acquired entities, successors, and assigns; and (2) any failed bank to the extent of the assets acquired by us or our affiliates.

“Claim.”

A “Claim” subject to arbitration is any demand, cause of action, complaint, claim, asserted right, or request for monetary or equitable relief, whether past, present or future, and based upon any legal theory, including contract, tort, consumer protection law, fraud, statute, regulation, ordinance, or common law, which arises out of or relates to this Agreement, your Account, the events leading up to your becoming an Account holder (for example, advertisements or promotions), any feature or service provided in connection with your Account or any transaction conducted with us related to your Account. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the term “Claim” excludes: (a) any dispute or controversy about the validity, enforceability, coverage or scope of this Arbitration Provision or any part thereof, including the Class Action Waiver in section 9.5 and Public Injunctive Relief Waiver in section 9.6 (a court will decide such disputes or controversies); and (b) any individual action brought by either party in small claims court or your state’s equivalent court, unless such action is transferred, removed or appealed to a different court. After a Claim is filed with the arbitration administrator, but before an arbitrator is formally appointed to a Claim, a party may send a written notice to the opposing party and the administrator stating that the Claim is within the jurisdiction of small claims court (or an equivalent court) and requesting that that court decide the Claim. Upon receipt of that notice, the administrator will administratively close the case without requiring the payment of filing or any other administrative fees.

9.3 Arbitration Procedures

9.3.1 Electing arbitration

Except if you opt out as provided in Section 9.8 below, you or we may elect to arbitrate any Claim. The election may be made by submitting a written Notice of Arbitration (“Notice”) in accordance with the Notice Requirements in section 9.3.2. Or, if a lawsuit asserting a Claim is filed in court, the other party may elect arbitration in the lawsuit (for example, a motion by the defendant to compel arbitration). If you or we commence litigation of a Claim, neither you nor we waive our right to elect to arbitrate any counterclaim or other Claim that you or we may make.

9.3.2 Notice Requirements.

If you or we elect to arbitrate a Claim, the claimant must provide the other party with written Notice before commencing arbitration. Notice to us shall be sent to PNC Bank, N.A., Legal Department, PNC Tower (18th Floor), 300 Fifth Avenue, Mailstop: PT-PTWR-18-1, Pittsburgh, PA 15222, Attn: Notice of Arbitration (the “Notice Address”). Our Notice to you shall be sent to the most recent primary address for you in our files. The Notice must be clearly marked “Notice of Arbitration” and contain the claimant’s name, telephone number, mailing address, e-mail address, the Account number of the Account at issue, a description of the nature and basis of the dispute, the relief sought by the claimant, and the claimant’s signature. To safeguard your Account, if you have retained counsel to submit the Notice, your Notice must include your signed statement authorizing us to share information about the Account and the Claim with your counsel. After receipt of the notice by the receiving party, the parties shall have 45 days to resolve the dispute in an informal, prompt, mutually beneficial manner. During this period, any applicable statutes of limitations or contractual limitations periods will be tolled. The arbitration administrator may not accept or administer an arbitration nor assess fees until the expiration of the 45-day period. Either party may seek court intervention regarding the initiation of arbitration or the assessment of fees in connection with such arbitration.

9.3.3 Arbitration administrator and rules

The arbitration will be administered by the American Arbitration Association (“AAA”) under its rules for consumer arbitrations. The AAA rules and forms may be obtained by contacting AAA at 1-800-778-7879 or visiting www.adr.org. AAA will apply its rules and codes of procedures in effect at the time arbitration is elected including, if applicable, AAA’s Supplementary Rules for Multiple Case Filings. If AAA is unable or unwilling to administer the arbitration in accordance with this Arbitration Provision, the parties may agree on another administrator or, if there is no agreement, a court with jurisdiction may appoint one. The arbitrator may, as appropriate, hold hearings in person, by telephone or videoconference, or decide Claims based on papers submitted by the parties. Any in-person arbitration hearing will take place in a venue in the county where you reside unless you and we agree otherwise.

9.3.4 Arbitration costs

The parties shall pay filing, administrative, and arbitrator fees in accordance with the administrator’s rules, unless applicable law requires a different allocation. This means that you will be responsible for paying your share of the administrator’s filing fees unless you obtain a waiver of fees from the administrator. However, if you send us a written signed request at our Notice Address requesting that we pay your share of the fees and stating that you tried but were unable to obtain a fee waiver after submitting the documentation required by the administrator, and if your request is made in good faith, we will pay or reimburse you for your share of the filing fees charged by the administrator.

9.3.5 What law the arbitrator will apply

The arbitrator will not be bound by judicial rules of procedure and evidence that would apply in a court, or by state or local laws that relate to arbitration proceedings. However, the arbitrator will apply the same statutes of limitation, evidentiary privileges, and applicable substantive law that a court would apply if the matter were pending in court. The arbitrator may consider rulings in arbitrations involving other customers, but an arbitrator’s ruling will not be binding in proceedings involving different customers. In addition, the arbitrator has the same power as a federal court to impose sanctions against any represented party or counsel for any violation of the standards of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11(b) or 28 U.S.C. § 1927.

9.3.6 The arbitrator’s decision and award

At the timely request of either party, the arbitrator shall provide a brief written explanation of the grounds for the decision. The arbitrator may award any damages or other relief or remedies (including statutory awards of attorneys’ fees) available under applicable law, as limited in the Class Action Waiver and Public Injunctive Relief Waiver in paragraphs 9.5 and 9.6 below, in an individual action brought in court. If the arbitrator finds that you or we have violated the standards of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11(b) or 28 U.S.C. § 1927, if permitted by applicable law, the arbitrator may reallocate compensation, expenses, and administrative fees (which include filing and hearing fees) as justice requires.

9.3.7 Effect of arbitration award; appeal

The arbitrator's award shall be final and binding on all parties, except for any right of appeal provided by the Federal Arbitration Act. This Agreement evidences a transaction in interstate commerce, and thus the Federal Arbitration Act governs the interpretation and enforcement of this Arbitration Provision.

9.4 Federal Arbitration Act

This Agreement evidences a transaction in interstate commerce, and thus the Federal Arbitration Act governs the interpretation and enforcement of this Arbitration Provision.

9.5 CLASS ACTION WAIVER

If either you or we elect to arbitrate a Claim, neither you nor we will have the right: (a) to participate in a class action, private attorney general action or other representative action in court or in arbitration, either as a class representative or class member; or (b) to join or consolidate Claims with claims of any other persons. No arbitrator shall have authority to conduct any arbitration in violation of this provision or to issue any relief that applies to any person or entity other than you and/or us individually. The parties acknowledge that the Class Action Waiver is material and essential to the arbitration of any Claims and is non-severable from this Arbitration Provision. If the Class Action Waiver is voided, found unenforceable, or limited with respect to any Claim for which you seek class-wide relief, then the parties' Arbitration Provision (except for this sentence) shall be null and void with respect to such Claim, subject to the right to appeal the limitation or invalidation of the Class Action Waiver. However, the Arbitration Provision shall remain valid with respect to all other Claims. The parties acknowledge and agree that under no circumstances will a class action be arbitrated.

9.6 PUBLIC INJUNCTIVE RELIEF WAIVER

If either you or we elect to arbitrate a Claim, neither you nor we will have the right to seek a public injunction, if such a waiver is permitted by the FAA. If (after exhaustion of all appeals) a court decides that this Public Injunctive Relief Waiver is unenforceable, any request for a public injunction will be decided in court after all other Claims are arbitrated. In no event will an arbitrator be permitted to issue a public injunction.

9.7 Conflicts; Severability; Survival

In the event of a conflict between the provisions of this Arbitration Provision and the AAA rules, or any other terms of the Agreement, the provisions of this Arbitration Provision shall control. If any part of this Arbitration Provision is deemed or found to be unenforceable for any reason, the remainder shall be enforceable, except as provided by the Class Action Waiver or Public Injunctive Relief Waiver. This Arbitration Provision shall survive (1) the closing of your Account and the termination of any relationship between us, including the termination of the Agreement, and (2) survive any bankruptcy to the extent consistent with applicable bankruptcy law.

9.8 RIGHT TO OPT OUT

You may opt out of arbitration by sending us written notice (the "Opt Out Notice"). To be effective, an Opt Out Notice must (1) include your name, address, phone number, and Account number; (2) state that you are opting out of the Arbitration Provision in your Agreement for the listed Account number; (3) be sent to us at PNC Bank, Attn: Arbitration Opt Out, P.O. Box 535229, Pittsburgh, PA 15253-5229; (4) be signed by you; and (5) be postmarked within forty-five (45) days after we open your Account. Your decision to opt out will not affect any other term in this Agreement. If we amend your Agreement, you will not have a new right to opt out of this Arbitration Provision unless we tell you that you do when we notify you of the amendment to your Agreement.

Your billing rights: keep this document for future use.

This notice tells you about your rights and our responsibilities under the Fair Credit Billing Act.

What to do if you find a mistake on your Statement

If you think there is an error on your Statement, write to us at:

PNC Bank, N.A.
P.O. Box 3429
Pittsburgh, PA 15230-3429

In your letter, give us the following information:

- Account information: Your name and Account number.
- Dollar amount: The dollar amount of the suspected error.
- Description of problem: If you think there is an error on your bill, describe what you believe is wrong and why you believe it is a mistake.

You must contact us:

- Within 60 days after the error appeared on your Statement.
- At least 3 business days before an automated payment is scheduled, if you want to stop payment on the amount you think is wrong.

You must notify us of any potential errors in writing. You may call us, but if you do, we are not required to investigate any potential errors, and you may have to pay the amount in question.

What will happen after we receive your letter

When we receive your letter, we must do two things:

1. Within 30 days of receiving your letter, we must tell you that we received your letter. We will also tell you if we have already corrected the error.
2. Within 90 days of receiving your letter, we must either correct the error or explain to you why we believe the bill is correct.

While we investigate whether or not there has been an error:

- We cannot try to collect the amount in question, or report you as delinquent on that amount.
- The charge in question may remain on your Statement, and we may continue to charge you interest on that amount.
- While you do not have to pay the amount in question, you are responsible for the remainder of your balance.
- We can apply any unpaid amount against your credit limit.

After we finish our investigation, one of two things will happen:

- If we made a mistake: You will not have to pay the amount in question or any interest or other fees related to that amount.
- If we do not believe there was a mistake: You will have to pay the amount in question, along with applicable interest and fees. We will send you a Statement of the amount you owe and the date payment is due. We may then report you as delinquent if you do not pay the amount we think you owe.

If you receive our explanation but still believe your bill is wrong, you must write to us within 10 days telling us that you still refuse to pay. If you do so, we cannot report you as delinquent without also reporting that you are questioning your bill. We must tell you the name of anyone to whom we reported you as delinquent, and we must let those organizations know when the matter has been settled between us.

If we do not follow all the rules above, you do not have to pay the first $50 of the amount you question even if your bill is correct.

Your rights if you are dissatisfied with your credit card purchases

If you are dissatisfied with the goods or services that you have purchased with your credit card and you have tried in good faith to correct the problem with the merchant, you may have the right not to pay the remaining amount due on the purchase.

To use this right, all of the following must be true:

1. The purchase must have been made in your home state or within 100 miles of your current mailing address, and the purchase price must have been more than $50. (Note: Neither of these are necessary if your purchase was based on an advertisement we mailed to you, or if we own the company that sold you the goods or services.)
2. You must have used your credit card for the purchase. Purchases made with cash advances from an ATM or with a check that accesses your credit card Account do not qualify.
3. You must not yet have fully paid for the purchase.

If all the criteria above are met and you are still dissatisfied with the purchase, contact us in writing at:

PNC Bank, N.A.
P.O. Box 3429
Pittsburgh, PA 15230-3429

While we investigate, the same rules apply to the disputed amount as discussed above. After we finish our investigation, we will tell you our decision. At that point, if we think you owe an amount and you do not pay, we may report you as delinquent.
