BORROWER’S ASSISTANCE CALL GUIDE

If you are struggling to make your current home loan or line of credit payments, but you are unsure of what to expect from PNC when you call, we have developed this quick guide as a resource. Some of the initial questions we will ask, as well as the information you should have at hand are listed to help you through the process.

In addition, you can also prepare in advance by writing down any questions you may have before the call, or questions that arise after the call. This will help you get the most out of each conversation.

Preparing for your first call

Have your loan number ready. My loan number: ____________________________

Be prepared to discuss your financial situation and the reason you anticipate having a problem making your home loan or line of credit payments.

Some examples of a hardship borrowers have experienced can include:
- Unemployment or lost hours
- Financial situation affected by an illness or injury
- An Adjustable Rate Mortgage (ARM) reset
- Loss of spouse
- Lost rental income on investment property

Our Account Specialists will explain options based on your individual situation, so the more detail you can provide the better.
